CITY OF KINGSTON, N. Y., FRIDAY EVENING, MARCH 28, 1919.

PRICE TWO CENTS.

PROCLAMATION OF MAYOR CREATES DRESS UP WEEK

From April 4th to 12th and Invites Co-operation to Make Display and Patronage Worthy of City and Profitable to All.

To Our Citizens:

Our people were rightfully asked for two years to limit and restrict purchases of clothing, furnishings and other things to articles of absolute necessity in order that our country could participate in the war to a maximum degree.

Now the breezes of the spring tell us a story of victory which will be followed by peace and general prosperity, with our courageous boys returning to be greeted with gay banners, warm hearts and thankful minds.

April, the real first month of spring, is about here. It promises us that Nature is supreme in adornment. She spreads her mantle of green, and clothes the earth with her gay and sweet blossoms, her smiling verdure, and clads spring in sunshine and splendor.

Nature has thus fixed the time for a general brightening up of the mind, a general smartening up of attire, and a general refreshing of the home.

Now, therefore, I, as mayor of the city of Kingston, New York, do hereby officially proclaim the period of April 4-12th, inclusive, to be "Dress Up Week" in our city.

During this period the merchants will make a special effort to cater to the wants and desires of the people of the city and county with special displays of goods and merchandise for the person, home and office. It is earnestly requested that all citizens co-operate with the merchants in an effort to make this special period profitable to both.

Without the patronage of all the people of the community, the merchants cannot always successfully meet outside rivals for the throne of trade. With everyone boosting Kingston and its merchants the tone of the stock in our various stores will be elevated and our city will not have to yield the palm of trade to any other place.

View the special window displays on the evening of April 4th and during the week, walk in and about the stores and fill your needs from Kingston stores and thus display a civic pride and interest and make our stores grow and our city with them.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand this 28th day of March, in the year nineteen hundred and nineteen.

PALMER CANFIELD, JR., Mayor.

They are well worth viewing by all interested in the elimination of the railroad crossing.

SPARTACIDE REVOLT

Prevented by Americans, Says Exchange Telegraph Company.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, March 28.—An uprising in which the Spartacists planned to use thousands of Russian prisoners today in an effort to back up the Bolshevik revolution in Hungary was nipped in the bud by the Americans in Berlin, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from that city. The Reds had plotted to recruit soldiers from the Spanish arsenal for the equipment of several thousand former Russian prisoners of war at Rastenburg.

The Americans, not wind of the conspiracy and seized the Russians during the night rushing them out of the city on trains. They were scattered throughout the whole country.

LENINE'S LIFE OF ROMAN LUXURY

Surpasses Description Says Refugee at Berne—Balls, Fêtes and Artresses Gratify Dictator's Whims.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, March 28.—Nicolai Lenin, the Bolshevik premier of Russia, has taken possession of the Villa Ostroumoff, in a fashionable Moscow street, which he has converted into a fortress, according to a wireless press dispatch from Berne today. This description of Lenin's life has just been secured at Berne from a Russian refugee.

Lenin gives magnificent dinners, entertainments, balls and fetes of all kinds. The luxury displayed at the headquarters of Bolshevism surpasses description.

At every meal a military band is in attendance to amuse the dictator's guests. Frequently he commands actresses and dancers to give free performances for himself and his friends. On these occasions orgies of indulgence are enacted.

Lenin is closely guarded by a special body of soldiers. Some of these are Chinese, some are Letts and others are former seamen in the navy.

This body guard protects Lenin from his enemies and each section of the bodyguard protects him from the others; the Chinese from the Letts, the Letts from the Chinese, and the seamen from both.

Lenin only leaves the security of his luxurious retreat in an armored motor car with armed guards as an escort.

His villa is fortified to withstand attacks and is well equipped with machine guns and artillery.

ABOLISH MARRIAGE IN HUNGARY

Reds Follow Lead of Russians—Year's Cohabitation Equivalent to Wedding—No Divorce Necessary.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Copenhagen, March 28.—The Hungarian Bolsheviks have followed the action of the Russian Reds in abolishing the marriage ceremony, according to information from Budapest today. The Soviet has decreed that illegitimate children shall have the same rights as those born in wedlock. A man and woman, by living together for a year, become automatically married with no ceremony, under the new system. If persons who are living together wish to separate and live apart their relationship is automatically broken. Food is being distributed as follows:

Full rations to the workers and Red soldiers; half rations to the middle class; and only a small portion for the bourgeois.

26TH DIVISION TO RETURN SOON

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Boston, March 28.—The entire 26th (Yankee) Division will embark for home at Brest, France, sometime between March 29 and April 9, according to official advices from the war department received here today.

An attempt will be made to bring the division home aboard five transports leaving as follows:

Mount Vernon, March 29; Agamemnon, March 30; America, April 1; Mongolia, April 2; and Von Steuben, April 9. If these ships are found inadequate the remainder of the division will be shipped aboard the George Washington and the Matsushima on April 12, the telegram said.

It was hinted at army headquarters that there was a chance that the Mount Vernon and the Agamemnon, scheduled to sail from France tomorrow and Sunday, might not be available, in which case this tentative schedule would be disarranged and the last named boats pressed into service as well as "commercial vessels and refitted cargo ships."

ANTI-TOBACCO MOVEMENT Will Not be Aided by Anti-Saloon League.

William H. Anderson, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New York, has issued the following in reference to the anti-tobacco campaign:

At some time in the near future I shall issue a statement defining explicitly and conclusively the attitude of the Anti-Saloon League respecting the movement against tobacco and give detailed reasons for the position taken. For the present suffice it to say that the Anti-Saloon League has absolutely nothing to do with any of these movements and has never contemplated any activity against tobacco and will not engage in any anti-tobacco movement. The reason why the liquor traffic has been prohibited is because the courts of last resort had decided that it was different from anything else and had no constitutional rights and was the cause of most of the crime, insanity and pauperism. When the courts lay down the same proposition about tobacco it will be time for the Anti-Saloon League to consider engaging in an anti-tobacco movement.

SOLDIERS AND SAILORS SERVICE. New York has most royally received our returning soldiers and sailors.

New York has most royally received our returning soldiers and sailors. Kingston is about to outfit itself in welcoming back the soldiers of this city and district country. We should think in making our boys feel that there is gladness in our hearts. St. James's Church wants to keep up the procession, so it will hold a "Welcome Service" on Sunday night. This will be for soldiers and sailors in particular, and their friends, and also for all creeds and classes. Those who have friends still "Over There" are cordially invited to attend, also those whose soldiers have died for America and freedom. The music will be popular and heart-stirring, and Mr. Duzanek will pay a tribute to the 27th division and especially the boys of this county. The subject will be "A Welcome to our Veterans."

500 MAY EAT AT ARMY.

The banquet committee have started the work of arranging the tables for the soldiers and sailors banquet in the army next Tuesday evening. The work was started last night and it is estimated that about 400 covers will be laid. The Women's Home of France will have charge of serving the banquet and the detachments and canteens are assigned to satisfy their appetites.

OUR BERLIN EMBASSY ACTIVE

After Two Years of Idleness—Captain Ghirardi of Navy, in Charge of Special Work of Investigation.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Berlin, March 26. (Delayed).—The American embassy on Wilhelmplatz, which has lain idle since former Ambassador Gerard's departure two years ago, is once more bustling with activity.

Through the corridors ring cheerful American voices and the walls reverberate with the busy clicking of American typewriters. Up and down the stairs and between the offices hurry sturdy young messengers adorning the diad of Uncle Sam's doughboys.

Before a huge desk in Mr. Gerard's private office sits a burly figure in the blue of the United States navy. The wearer of this uniform is Captain Walter R. Ghirardi, U. S. N. Captain Ghirardi, by the way, is no stranger around Berlin nor the American embassy, for during the Gerard regime he was the American naval attaché. It is this former Berlin experience that accounts for his return to the German capital.

The Suave Captain.

Captain Ghirardi is of the quiet, swaying type of American, and especially quiet in the presence of newspaper men. He talks readily of the high cost of living, the low quality of German food and the weather. But any allusion to his business in Berlin draws invariably the same answer: "I cannot be interviewed."

A ray of light is shed on the mystery surrounding Captain Ghirardi's mission in Berlin through an interview given the Muenchener Augsburger Abend Zeitung at Munich, by Prof. Harry H. Field, who is understood to be identified with the Ghirardi party. Field was quoted as saying:

"The purpose of my visit is to ascertain if the liberation from 'barbarism' is genuine; to find out if Germany has really been delivered from militarism, or if there is still a remnant of it awaiting an opportunity to raise its head. I am also investigating whether the German people have any share in the responsibility for the war or were victims of the old military regime. America has no intention of tramping Germany under foot."

German Newspaper Rumors.
Members of the Ghirardi mission have been despatched to the four corners of Germany to collect material for reports to the American peace delegates at Paris. There is good reason to believe furthermore that the German food situation figures prominently in these reports.

Captain Ghirardi himself makes occasional whirlwind trips to Paris and American army couriers are constantly moving between the French and German capitals. But they are as uncommunicative as their chief.

Recently the Taegische Rundschau printed a story purporting to be a reproduction of statements made by a member of Captain Ghirardi's party to German officials, setting forth that the mission had come to investigate the degree of penitence manifested by the German people and voicing the opinion that, with dancing and entertainment very much in evidence, any manifestation of penitence could not be very deeply felt.

An American correspondent called upon Captain Ghirardi on the telephone to protest against discrimination in giving out information. The American official then authorized the International News Service to deny the imputed statements. The entire staff was "called upon the carpet" and each protested his innocence. Captain Ghirardi then gave a statement to the Lokal Anzeiger branding the Taegische Rundschau story as false.

HOW AMERICA FEEDS THE WORLD

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, March 28.—Some idea of the extent to which America is feeding the world is indicated in figures made public today by the department of commerce showing the exports of meat products to the Allied and neutral countries during February. Fresh beef exports to the United Kingdom totaled more than 13,000,000 pounds, with a value of more than $3,111,000. Of the total exports of 114,794,000 pounds of bacon during the month, Belgium took 11,500,000 pounds; France, 25,982,000 pounds; United Kingdom, 42,576,000 pounds; Italy, 15,467,000 pounds; Norway, 4,000,000 pounds, with various other countries taking the remainder.

Hams and shoulders, to the amount of a little more than 101,000,000 pounds, were exported during February. Of this amount the United Kingdom received 18,500,000 pounds; France, 3,600,000 pounds; Belgium, 2,962,000 pounds, and other countries, 60,000,000 pounds. In addition, large shipments of canned beef, pickled pork and other meat products were made during the month.

LENINE'S CHUM HUNGARIAN LEADER

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Copenhagen, March 28.—A denial that the French troops at Budapest have been disarmed by the Bolsheviks was received here today from that city.

Bela Kun, leader of the Hungarian communists, has just exchanged a prison cell for a castle. He was formerly a chum of Nicolai Lenin in Russia and organized the previous Red move in Hungary. It failed and he was cast into prison.

Saw Bolsheviks, Cramley.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, March 28.—Miss Maud Miller, who has just arrived here from Russia where she was employed by a wealthy family as governess, told a representative of the Daily Express today that she had seen the Bolshevik soldiers exactly more than a score of Ukrainian officers. The Ukrainians had been captured from General Korniloff's army and were then taken to Moscow.

New York Has It Too.

New York, March 28.—New York's millions shuddered and skidded to work today. A cold wave turned rain into snow and sleet early today and by daylight the entire city was covered with a coating of ice. Traffic on some surface and elevated lines was suspended for a while. There were numerous accidents due to a black wind. A woman blown into the Harlem river was rescued by a policeman.

Welsh Miners Resume Work.

London, March 28.—Thirty thousand Welsh miners who had gone on strike despite the protest of the leaders, returned to work today, breaking the back of the "wildcat" and a Central News dispatch from Cardiff. It is expected that the remainder will return tomorrow.

Abolish Austrian Nobility.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, March 28.—Pills have been submitted by the Socialists at congress at Vienna formally demanding the abolition of nobility and abolishing all titles, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from that city today.

Wealthy Horseman Dead.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Barnstable, N. Y., March 28.—J. Campbell Thompson, millionaire horseman and one of the best known sportsmen in the country, died at his home, Barnstable, today from a stroke of apoplexy.

Chief of Police J. Allan Wood stated this morning that with the co-operation of the public along the line of march the big welcome parade Tuesday afternoon would be a success. Broadway will be kept clear of vehicle traffic, trolley cars will not run during the parade, and no vehicles will be allowed to park along the line of march.

Chief Wood stated this morning that trolley cars over the line of march will stop running before the parade starts, and will not remain standing on any of the switches along the parade route. The Colonial division will be operated except that portion over which the parade marches and then will resume running as soon as the parade passes.

No Parking Along Route.
There will be no parking of vehicles along the line of march, and traffic will be stopped over those streets at 1:45 o'clock that afternoon.

Persons living in the city are requested to park their machines in the side streets one deep on either side and ten feet from the corner. Those who can conveniently do so are requested to leave their cars home.

Out of town automobilists will park their cars on the Athletic Field from 1:30 p. m. to 7 p. m. The police department will furnish guards to protect the cars.

Spectators Can Help.
No demonstration of the character of this welcome parade can be carried to a successful and glorious end without the help of each individual citizen.

The line of march is over two miles long, and there is plenty of room on the sidewalks and adjacent property for all to see the parade. The streets to the curb line on each side are desired for the parade. Policemen will be stationed at street intersections to see that this space is kept clear. The co-operation of the public is asked to help carry this out.

Don't crowd out in the center of the street on the approach of the parade, but remain on the sidewalk.

Grand Stands and Arch.
The large grandstand on the high school grounds is for the parents and relatives of the boys who went away. On account of the low elevation of this stand it will be necessary to keep the space in front of it free of people.

Spectators may, however, stand on either side of this stand and on the city hall grounds. Chief Wood urges that the space at the Victory Arch be kept clear.

When Parade Returns.
When the parade returns to the army it will need plenty of room in order to get the boys inside. None but the boys and the reception committee will be allowed inside. Keep the space at the army clear, and obey the directions of the police at that point.

Every One Can Help.
Every resident of Kingston, both young and old, can help make the parade a success by carefully reading the above and carrying out the instructions.

If Tuesday is clear it is estimated that fully 60,000 people will witness the parade. There is plenty of room along the line of march to do so without crowding into the roadway or blocking up the open space around the Victory Arch and the Army.

ARE GREAT NATIONAL ASSET

Why It Is of the Utmost Importance That Country's Forests Must Be Properly Guarded.

A little known but highly important service, both to the present generation and those that are to come, is rendered by the men who guard and care for our national forests. These are situated in all parts of the country, from Porto Rico to Alaska, and one of the most important duties is to protect them from fire, says the New York World.

The method employed in the Nebraska National forest is to first clear a strip of land. Twelve furrows are plowed on each side of this and the ground between them is turned over. This firebreak will halt the flames driven by a high wind. Its cost, 10 cents a mile for each furrow over ordinary land, may run to $50 when heavy timber has to be cleared away.

To keep the forests up to standard, between 12,000 and 15,000 acres must be planted each year. In the Douglas fir region of Oregon the seeds are sown in the snow. They are scattered broadcast, and as the snow melts they sink deeper and deeper. Some are eaten by the birds, but when the snow has disappeared most of them are covered with enough earth to germinate and take root.

This work will yield results only in the future, but the national forests are already a great asset. Under expert selection many thousands of feet of timber are cut each year.

WHY

Perfect Mirror Can Be Produced Cheaply

Primitive man used the quiet pool for his mirror and highly polished metal mirrors have been found in most of the ancient ruins. For many generations mirrors have been made of glass, mercury or quicksilver films being the favored substance for the reflecting medium.

The older process is fully described in many places. It was attended by uncertainty and was objectionable for several reasons. The more modern method is that of depositing metallic silver upon the glass, which must be clean if an even, homogeneous film is to be the result. Silver in certain solutions is easily displaced by other substances and being no longer held in solution, it is thrown down upon all available surfaces. The problem is to have it deposited at a rate that may be controlled and in a manner to give a uniform, continuous film free from defects. A large percentage of the silver must be deposited from the solution if losses are to be avoided.

Some recent work at the University of Pittsburgh has shown that alcohol added to the solution increases the efficiency of the process and that sugar is an excellent retarding agent, making it possible to control the rate of deposition. Formaldehyde is used as the reducing solution. By the use of these methods it has been estimated that perfectible films can be made at a cost for material not exceeding a few cents per square foot of surface.—Scientific American.

PLAGUE MADE DIRE RECORD

Reasonable Grounds for Estimating That Influenza Has Cost the Lives of Six Million Persons.

Though estimates of deaths over the whole world from any single epidemic are very difficult to form, there seem to be reasonable grounds for believing that some 6,000,000 persons have perished of influenza and pneumonia during the last comparatively few weeks. Business has been interfered with by the epidemic in every country in the world, and enormous losses both in human power and in trade have been suffered. The cost of the "influenza war" cannot be reckoned, but that it is colossal does not admit of doubt.

This plague, then, generally regarded with equanimity, it would seem, five times more deadly than war. It has been estimated that the war caused the death of 20,000,000 persons in four and a half years, makes a physician in the London Times. In the same period at its epidemic rate influenza would have killed 20,000,000. The victims of the influenza epidemic in London were but as a summer shower compared with the deluge of germs which we have just received. The air inside most London homes has cost it upwards of 10,000.

Never since the black death has such a plague swept over the face of the world; never, perhaps, has a plague been more widely accepted. In India alone over 3,000,000 deaths occurred, including 1,000,000 of those. Delhi, with a population of 200,000, had 500 deaths a day. The French lost 250,000 persons. South Africa suffered no less severely. In Cape Town 2,000 children were left destitute as a result of the disease, while the plague swept through the native areas like fire. The Commonwealth of Australia sent a ship to Samoa with help because the disease was affecting 80 per cent of the natives. The white population were only able to feed the living and bury the dead. In New Zealand public services were stopped and business severely disorganized. The ravages in America have been appalling, nor has Canada escaped. In Ontario and the western provinces no fewer than 100,000 persons died of the epidemic, while the total death rate in Ontario alone was 1400 up to November. A large number of American Indians have perished. Europe as a whole has suffered in the same way. In Spain the epidemic was described as "truly awful." In Barcelona the death rate was steadily stated to be 1200 daily. France has had her share, likewise Germany and Austria.

Few Presidents Rich.

The Roosevelt fortune was different, however, in being mainly an inherited fortune. His predecessor may have added to it in his lifetime, but as in the case of other presidents, most of his personal earnings in a period of forty years of public life were absorbed in the support of his family. No other president has ever enjoyed such advantages of remunerative public life as Mr. Roosevelt, and besides his salary from official positions his income from his books and from editorial work must have been large. Yet it is a fair inference that if there had been the sole source of his support he would have died a poor man, as Cleveland did, and most of their predecessors in the White House.

This has been the common financial fate of presidents, and the example of Mr. Roosevelt probably merely proved the rule that the office of president is not economically productive in any logical proportion to its exalted state and onerous political qualifications.

A Different Vocation.

Alderman Louis B. Anderson, who is endowed with a keen sense of humor, can as a rule be depended upon to bring out the latest story finding favor among "the brethren."

A story handed to Alderman Anderson by some of the boys concerns Sam Jones, who stood 6 feet 4 inches in his stocking feet and was in training at one of the southern camps. One day the officers undertook the organization of a regimental band.

"Anybody here a bugler?" asked the company commander.

Sam stepped forward three paces. "That's a few paces to show us how good a bugler you are," was the next question.

"Bugler!" exclaimed the astonished Sam. "I'm a bugler. I thought you said 'bugler'."—Chicago American.

The Strasburg Clock.

A correspondent writes that it is not at every hour that the procession of the twelve apostles makes the round of the famous clock at Strasburg, near a London paper. The clock strikes only at midday by middle European time. The quarters of each hour are struck by the figures of a child, a young man, an adult man, and an old man in their order, while an elf of death appears and strikes upon the hour. Many marvelous astronomical phenomena are also shown on the clock, which automatically regulates itself at midnight on the last day of each year. It is not generally known, by the way, that a model of this unique timepiece can be seen any day by Londoners in the Horniman museum at Forest Hill.

Heard in the Pantry.

The Turnip—Hear about the sad affair in the kitchen?
The Cabbage—Not what was it?
The Turnip—One of the onions got so strong it made the potato's eyes water.

The Thrift of Years.

Every man should strive to live at least 100 years and die all hitched up in working harness. Many a man feels that he would like to retire at about sixty and spend the rest of his years with nothing to do but lead a gold-headed cane around by the hand. It is thrifty to stay on the job just as long as possible. Every man should make the country that his favorite corner and the undertaker his worst enemy.—Thrift Magazine.

For Outdoor Chess Games.

Chessmen, which range from two to three and one-half feet in height, made of aluminum, eucalyptus, and packed in a special truck, have been given to the library of the University of Washington. A miniature man, now dead, designed them for use in public contests, on large lawns or outdoor chess boards, with a view to increasing popular interest in the game.

The Lucky Horseshoe.

The superstition of the horseshoe is emblematic of good luck originated in England in the seventeenth century. They were at first deemed a protection against witches and evil spirits, and were nailed on doors of houses with the curve upward. The custom of nailing horseshoes to ships and other sailing craft is still in vogue.

Tall Order.

Mrs. Fatmuse—"Ten patent pictures to order don't you?" Great Artist—"Yes, madame." Mrs. Fatmuse—"Well, I want a landscape, with lots of deer, and ducks, and quail, and red birds, rattle, pige and so on, you know and put a lake and an ocean in—fresh and salt water, you know, and be sure to have plenty of fish swimming around, because it's for the dining room."

CONTENDING INTERESTS.

When we recall the difficulties attending the adoption of the Federal Constitution we can hardly wonder at the difficulties attending the adoption of a constitution for the proposed League of Nations. In the first instance the obstacles consisted of only the conflicting interests and jealousies of our thirteen States, but in the second instance there are much greater difficulties involved in the conflicting interests and jealousies of the world's chief nations. One would naturally suppose that the difficulty presented in 1787, in contrast with the difficulty presented now, was a relatively small matter. Yet it was a very serious matter, and the general adoption of the Constitution was made possible only by the promise of the first ten amendments which Congress at its first session in 1789 promptly passed and offered to the States for ratification.

The first loose confederation of the thirteen States formed in 1778, has been aptly described by Motley "as a league of petty sovereignties," five years passing before all the States were induced to join. There was a similar reluctance to come into a more stable union under the Constitution of 1787. Patrick Henry warned the Virginians of "the awful immensity of the dangers with which it (the Constitution) is pregnant," even declaring that it "squeezes toward monarchy" and demanding "What right had they to say, 'We, the people,' instead of 'We, the States?'" Similar doubts and fears kept Rhode Island and North Carolina out of the Union for two years. Massachusetts's convention recommended amendments to the Constitution "to quiet apprehension" and Fisher Ames argued that the "compact" might be regarded as safe because two Senators from each would "represent the sovereignty of the States." Though Alexander Hamilton, on the other hand, declared that power was left with the States and that the Constitution was "a frail and worthless fabric," still others of the thirteen demanded explanatory amendments, ten of which were promptly provided, the tenth declaring that "the powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively or to the people."

These facts, but a few of many that might be cited, are recalled in order to show that contending interests render a general adoption of a constitution for the proposed League of Nations a very difficult matter. In 1787 it was difficult to bring the leading men of single States into agreement, and the same difficulty is presented now, party interests within a single nation clashing as well as the interests of the nations themselves. The wonder is that the project of a League of Nations and the consideration of a workable constitution have been successfully pushed as far as the present stage. Nothing whatsoever could have accomplished this but the savage war through which we have passed and the world's eagerness to be saved from another. The clash of interest and opinion is sometimes disagreeing, but we should remember that this is inevitable in all cases. Even our cherished Monroe doctrine principle was bitterly fought in this country at the time of its adoption, John Randolph of Roanoke inveighing against "entangling alliances" (England was backing India) which would imperil the United States merely for the sake of the unimportant and little known people of Latin America.

Secretary of Labor Wilson is quoted as saying that several recent strikes in the United States were not industrial disputes in their origin but, rather, results of "a deliberate, organized attempt at a social and political movement to establish soviet governments in the United States." With the espionage laws giving them almost unlimited power, what have the Department of Justice and the Post Office Department to say in defense of their failure to cope with this "deliberate, organized attempt" to establish soviet governments? (The Hanson had no government appropriation nor government espionage law, but he did the work.)

Practically everything that is accomplished in this world is the result of more or less compromise. No one man knows it all. In a country having ing a republican form of government, such as ours, no one man has a right to impose his judgment upon the nation. Inability to consult and compromise is a fatal defect in one assuming to exercise governmental functions. Such a defect accounts for the failure of the Wilson administration. As an autocrat in the school-room Wilson developed traits of character which made him an attempted autocrat in the White House. But this Government was not framed upon the autocracy idea. Because he could not conceive it possible that members of Congress could be right when they differed from him, he has forced the Government to suffer. Hereafter we shall not have presidents with an autocratic mentality.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"Alice seems very liberal in her views." "Yes, and very lavish of them."—Boston Transcript.

"When will this telegram be delivered?" "Government Operator—" "Oh, about 2 o'clock." "But what day?"—Life.

"I'll grant you three wishes," said the fairy. "Nothing to it," declared the woman. "Eh?" "I gotta husband who does better than that every day."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Mrs. Henpeck—"To think that I once considered you a hero! Oh, la-la-la!" Mr. Henpeck—"I suppose the thought struck you on the evening I performed the death-defying and foolhardy feat of proposing marriage to you?"—Buffalo Express.

"What'll you have?" asked the waiter. "I'm not predicting," replied the weary citizen. "I'm going to order a cup of strong coffee with fresh cream and a steak done rare. Then I'm going to eat what you bring me and say no more."—Washington Star.

"I know I don't play whist well, but I only play cards for amusement." "Well, your game is certainly amusing."—Boston Transcript.

"I hope your little boy never tells a lie." "I don't know. I do know that at times he tells a lot of embarrassing truths."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"Would you tax generations yet unborn?" "I think I would," said Senator Spug. "They certainly can't do any kicking during my tenure of office."—Kansas City Journal.

Mr. Flatbush—"My new cook is always producing new dishes. She is very original." Mrs. Bensonhurst—"I should say she was original. My cook breaks a lot of 'em, but she never produces any new ones, I notice."—Yonkers Statesman.

"The judge gimme six months. You said you'd get me acquitted." "I know I did," admitted the lawyer. "And, since I fell down on that promise, I'll agree to get you pardoned." "How long will that take?" "About six months."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"I don't quite get our eloquent friend's views on this subject." "Nor I," rejoined Senator Sorghum. "They don't appear to connect up. They remind me of a motion-picture film which has had a thousand feet or so chopped out here and there by the censor."—Washington Star.

On Monday evening, April 7th, Right Worshipful Master Palmer, District Deputy Grand Master of the Ulster-Graeme Masonic District, will pay his official visit to Kingston Lodge, No. 347, F. and A. M. The Second Degree will be conferred on four candidates during the evening. After the lodge session, a banquet will be served.

Miss Dowling Woodward and Miss Louise Johnson, who for the past few months have had the Old Colony Coffee House at the corner of Crown and John streets, have gone to Miami, Florida, where they will be connected with a large cañcen service. Before leaving Kingston these two artists sold a number of their finest paintings.

Clifton Commandery of the P. O. S. of A. are arranging to have one of the best dances of the season at Mechanics' Hall on Henry street, Monday evening, March 31st. To make things interesting they are going to give a prize to the best waltzer and also to the one dancing the fox trot best. Already a large number of tickets have been sold and a grand, good time is expected.

Sachem Merritt J. Haines of West 61st street celebrated his birthday Thursday, and if it had not been for his wife and his fellow members of Minniewaska Tribe, No. 130, I. O. F. M., he would likely have forgotten about it. His wife that day baked a birthday cake and decorated it with 15 candles. She took the cake over to the home of Frank Green, a fellow member of the Red Men. On meeting night it has been the custom of Mr. Green calling for Mr. Haines and they both went to lodge together. That evening Mr. Green failed to call and Mr. Haines had to go alone. He found twenty-five of his fellow Red Men present. Under the head of "food of the order" Thomas H. Edmonston asked Sachem Haines if it was not his birthday. He confessed it was. The birthday cake then appeared with the candles lighted and was covered with apple pie and ice cream. On account of a shortage in the candy market the cake only had the sixteen candles mentioned.

Camouflage in Reverse.
Reversal of the camouflage principle, creating increasing the visibility of its subjects instead of concealing them, is blending them with the background. It is a possible peace development by the naval officer who developed the principle of camouflage. A. J. Smith, senior engineering officer in the navy, after applying the principle to the need for concealing the ship and the need for a possible camouflage of the ship, developed the principle of camouflage. The principle of camouflage is the principle of camouflage. The principle of camouflage is the principle of camouflage.

The Stroller Hears Discussed Daylight Saving, Symphony Music and Other Music—Depends on the Point of View.

"When does this daylight saving law go into effect?" asked the customer as he entered the shop for his mid-week shave.

"Sunday morning," replied the busy barber, "and the best plan is to set your clocks an hour ahead just before you hop into bed Saturday night, and then when you wake up Sunday morning you will be in time with the rest of the country."

"Some people object to this daylight saving they tell me," said the customer.

"Maybe so," replied the barber, "but it certainly hits me all right and I wouldn't kick if it continue all the time." He added, "Were you up to the symphony concert the other night?"

"Sure I was there," replied the customer.

"How did you like it?" asked the barber.

"Well, to be strictly honest," confessed the customer, "I believe you have to become educated to enjoy that class of music. It is just like learning to smoke. The more you hear such music the more you are likely to appreciate it. Then again I did not care for the selections of the soprano. Now if she had sung 'Swanee' or something like that—"

"Gosh," interrupted the barber, "do you want to insult her? Who ever heard a big star sing any song like that at a concert. Why it would give their heart failure, the very suggestion."

"Just the same," argued the customer, "I have found that the old time ballads and songs make the greatest appeal at any concert, and the real big stars are coming to realize that fact."

"Well, I guess you are right at that," said the barber, "and personally the best thing I heard at the concert was the 'Soprano' by Orda which was played by Mr. Kronold as his last encore."

CUSTODY OF CHILD

Awarded to Eugene C. Johnson—Mother From Kingston.

Little Laura Johnson, four years old and pretty as a picture, was brought into special term of supreme court Saturday, says the Poughkeepsie Star, on a writ of habeas corpus. Her mother is Mrs. Edith Johnson of Kingston and her father is Eugene C. Johnson of Poughkeepsie. The mother and father had had a "split," it was stated, and the mother had returned to Kingston taking with her the child. But the father grew homesick for his little pet, so he sent Under-Sheriff Briggs to Kingston with the writ. The writ brought the mother and child to Poughkeepsie and the custody of the girl given to the father as the mother did not desire to appear in court.

N. Y. S. A. A. AND AUTO LEGISLATION

State Motor Body Have Successfully Opposed What They Regard As Undesirable Bills—Other Bills Pending.

A hearing on new legislation of vital interest to automobile owners took place at Albany on Tuesday afternoon, March 25th., before the legislative judiciary committee, in the capital, at which the Blakely bill creating an Automobile Liability Commission and requiring bonds from automobile owners was vigorously opposed by Albert W. Seaman, chairman of the Law and Legislation Committee, Melvin T. Bender, general counsel to other officers of the New York State Automobile Association and the Albany Automobile Club. No other automobile club or organization were represented at this meeting or made any effort whatever to prevent such measures being placed upon the statutes of New York state.

Automobile Fees and Property Tax.

Another piece of legislation of vital importance to automobile owners was introduced in the senate this afternoon which is designed to increase automobile fees approximately from $2.50 to $25.00 over the present fees, depending upon the value of the car. This schedule has been worked out: First—on the basis of 25 cents per h. p. Second—property tax of 40 cents per $100 on list price, first year; 30 cents per $100 second year; 20 cents per $100 third year and thereafter.

122 Local Clubs. This proposition has been submitted to the 122 automobile clubs composing the New York State Automobile Association for whatever concerted action these representative motorists in their respective communities, which represents practically every place of any importance in the state, may decide to take.

Other Auto Legislation.

The authors of the Transparent-Illuminated Number Plate bill and the bill which was designed to double fees on all automobiles up to 25 h. p. including 32 makes of cars, admitted, early in the week, that due to the strenuous objections raised by the New York State Automobile Association, that these bills had no possible chance of going through.

The Mullen bill requiring transfer of certificate of registration with sale of car, will likely become a law and prevent sale of stolen cars to honest dealers.

The bill preventing dazzling headlights on street cars along highways passed the assembly today.

The bills requiring motor trucks to carry mirrors and the bill requiring the removal of detour signs within 24 hours after road open for traffic are certain to become law.

MOST KINGSTON STORES

Will Remain Open Until Noon On Tuesday.

The greater number of Kingston stores will be open until 12 o'clock noon on Tuesday, April 1, the day of the big parade and reception for Ulster's soldiers. As are expected to close at that hour in observance of the half holiday.

Southern Ulster Divorce Suit.

It is expected the separation suit of William R. Meredith against Lena A. Meredith, to be tried in Newburgh, April 3, before Judge Seeger, will be bitterly contested. The persons reside in Ulster county, just over the Orange county line, but the suit was brought in Orange county for the convenience of the witnesses. The husband makes seven specific charges of cruel and inhuman treatment, but does not allege infidelity. The couple were married in Shawangunk in March of 1917, and went to live on what was known as the Eckert place near the husband's father's farm. The wife brings a counter suit for separation on the ground of cruelty.

THRIFTINESS IS NOT STINGINESS

Paying For Good Purposes When Conditions Are Right Is the Exercise of Good Judgment.

Among the "uses of adversity," which the recent war has brought to the knowledge of all thinking people, has been that of thrift; a lesson on this country sadly needed to learn. But in the future we shall all have to learn to live on less, one of the "uses of adversity" to be upon us; that of economy. It certainly is well to know how to do without, provided one has to, but it is a great mistake to keep on "doing without" when one does not have to, just to save a little money. To be stingy is to be careless about appearance.

And tight budgets were one of the great necessities of the war. Up to now, when we must begin to be stingy, comes the reminder that we do not have to be, and that a penny saved is a penny earned. The home, the home, the home, etc., while the day is young is the part of good management.

Begin In Home.

Let's begin in the home taking it for granted that the people of our home are going to spend this spring season from the mayor of our city, especially during the week of April you'll have the chance of your life to 5-12, in fresh new clothes that shall be in all of the latest wrinkles in all make us face the future bravely, these lines.

A MOTHER'S STRENGTH

Mother, whose hands rock the cradle, often needs more than ordinary food to help maintain the blood-quality and strength and to assure adequate nourishment to the child. It is as unwise for the mother, as it is dangerous to the child, to place dependence upon alcoholic stimulation, for strength is not found in alcohol.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

of purest cod liver oil, absolutely free from alcohol, is mother's true friend, in that it performs a two-fold duty. Scott's is tonic-nourishment, particularly suited for the trying period of motherhood.

BOY SCOUTS AND THE PARADE

(Contributed.)

You are all aware of the part we are to take in the coming celebration. Will you do your part? Or will you try to make the name "Scout" mean "Slacker?" All Scouts who have any respect for themselves, their country, the men who fought for them and who died for them, and for the Scout organization, will march with the Scouts next Tuesday. We do not mean by this statement to cast any reflection on other organizations, or the schools to which you belong, but we do mean this. A Scout's place is with the Scouts in any work or celebration in which the organization takes part. We had a drill last night at which there were about fifty-five Scouts present. These Scouts did very well in their drilling but there are over one hundred and fifteen Scouts enrolled in this city and when all Scouts are called there should be one hundred and fifteen answers. There are just two drills yet before the parade. Tomorrow, Saturday, at 1:30 at Boy Scouts' headquarters, and Monday night at 7 at headquarters. You all know how little drilling you have done. Will you answer present when the roll is called Saturday and Monday? Or will you try to make the Scout look like a lot of fellows running all over the street. We want you all to understand that the first duty of a Scout is to obey. There is too much talking in ranks. At the command "Attention" every Scout is to stand with head and eyes to the front, hands at the sides and feet apart. It is to be kept until another command is given. There is to be absolutely no talking in ranks. A short time ago the paper made a special comment on the soldiers as they marched up Fifth avenue in New York, saying that in spite of the many calls from each side of them, they did not turn their heads but with eyes and head to the front, marched on. Now, who won't you fellows do like that for once? You can. We know you can. Will you? We want every fellow at each of these drills and we want every Scout to take each command as it is given and have absolutely no talking to do in the ranks. We will not be able to do without as good as the Girl Scouts unless you do. Show Kingston that you can march as well as girls and that you can take commands as well as girls. If you can do as well as we think you can you will come close but we fear, we fear.

MRS. A. H. RYON BURNED TO DEATH

Invalid Wife of Former Kingstonian
Dead as Result of Schenectady Fire
Which Destroyed Home.

Mrs. Alfred J. Ryon of Schenectady was burned to death and her baby so badly burned its life is despaired of, by a fire which destroyed the Ryon home. Mr. Ryon suffered many burns upon his hands in endeavoring to save the baby. Mrs. Ryon was an invalid and it is believed she set the bedding on fire. The house was destroyed.

Shortly after 4 o'clock in the morning, Mr. Ryon, who slept in an adjoining room, was awakened by cries of the baby, which is less than a year old and was sleeping with the mother. As he hurried to his wife's room and opened the door, he saw the bed in flames, and grabbing the baby gave it to the housekeeper who had been sleeping with another child and who had followed him to his wife's room. He then attempted to save his wife by pulling her from the burning bed and trying to beat out the flames. Before medical aid could be summoned Mrs. Ryon died.

Alfred Ryon is a son of Alderman Eugene J. Ryon, formerly of Kingston, who moved to Schenectady a number of years ago and was employed by the American Express Company, but is now in the real estate business. C. M. Ryon, a former superintendent of the Kingston schools, was the father of Eugene.

HOW GERMANY PLANS TO EXPLOIT RICH LANDS OF THE UKRAINE.

Now is restored to the speech of men the term "Sicilian vespers," a term of horror from medieval times. The people whose genius conceived the sack of Louvain, the sinking of the Lusitania, the "spurious verities" policy and the systematic spoliation of Belgium and northern France is the same that now charges the inhabitants of the Ukraine with a plot to massacre Germans, a plan to leave no German alive in the richest wheat province of old Russia.

The technique of subjugation has never been shaped into a perfect system even by the efforts of all conquerors whose deeds are recorded in the annals of human exploitation. There is a successful method of extracting honey from bees without retelling from the bees, but the plans of ruthless Germany for taking over the food-stuffs and the government of the Ukraine in one coup constitute an experiment that has few entirely successful precedents.

Nations may be exterminated, but a people cannot be permanently enslaved. The German authorities are exercising their hateful power to the great hurt of the Ukrainians, much as earlier in the war they starved Belgium and Poland to feed Germany. Oppression continues to keep pace with the forces of the Kaiser.

SEEMING CHANGES IN COLORS

Why Long Exposure of the Retina to the Action of Red Rays Creates an Optical Illusion.

It is well known that when a ray of white light is analyzed, as by a prism, it is found to be composed of seven colors, the so-called colors of the spectrum—red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo and violet—and that when the colors of the spectrum are recombined white light reappears. If, however, we eliminate the red rays and then recombine the remaining six colors, we obtain the so-called complementary color of the red, namely, green. If we eliminate the green rays the remaining rays will give red light, and so on with the other complementary colors, orange and blue, yellow and violet. Now, if the retina has been fatigued through being exposed too long to the action of red rays, it will be susceptible only to the remaining six colors, and the eye, when immediately struck by the white light, will receive the impression of the complementary green color. Many other influences are based upon the same principle. Thus, when looking for a long time through blue spectacles, immediately after their removal all objects will appear yellow. When the retina has been irritated from gazing at red fireworks the ray flames will look greenish after their extinction.

How "Foolscap" Originated.

Several explanations have been given of the meaning of the word "foolscap" as applied to a certain class of paper. One of the explanations is that when Charles I found his revenue short he granted certain privileges, amounting to monopolies, and among these was the manufacture of paper. The exclusive right to which was sold to certain parties, who grew rich and enriched the government at the expense of those who were obliged to use the paper. At this time all English paper bore, in watermarks, the royal arms. The parliament under Cromwell made a jest of this law, and among other indignities to the memory of Charles it was ordered that the royal arms be removed from the paper and a fool's cap and bells be substituted. These were in their turn removed when the Rump parliament was dissolved, but paper for the use of the parliament's journal still bears the name of "foolscap."

AMERICA'S IMMORTALS

EDWARD C. ALLWORTH,
Captain, 60th Infantry.

Capt. Allworth won the Distinguished Service Cross for bravery in action at Clerly-le-Petit, France, November 5, 1918. While his company was crossing the Meuse river and canal at a bridgehead opposite Clerly-le-Petit, the bridge over the canal was destroyed by shell fire and Capt. Allworth's command became separated, part of it being on the east bank of the canal and the remainder on the west bank. Seeing his advance units sinking slowly headway up the steep slope ahead, this officer mounted the canal bank and called for his men to follow. Phoning in he swam across the canal under fire from the enemy, followed by his men. Inspiring his men by his example of gallantry, he led them up the slope, joining the hard-pressed platoons in front. By his personal leadership he forced the enemy back for more than a kilometer, overcoming machine gun nests and capturing a hundred prisoners, whose number exceeded that of the men in his command. The exceptional courage and leadership displayed by Capt. Allworth made possible the re-establishment of a bridgehead over the canal and the successful advance of other troops. Capt. Allworth's home is at Crawford, Washington.

DOG FED TRAPPED FRIEND

Massachusetts Farm Agent Tells Remarkable and Touching Story of Canine Affection.

In the Telegram, Worcester, Mass., John E. Dearth, field agent of Worcester county farm bureau, tells this story of the intelligence, sympathy, affection and clever understanding on the part of a dog, which came under his observation in a recent visit to Princeton.

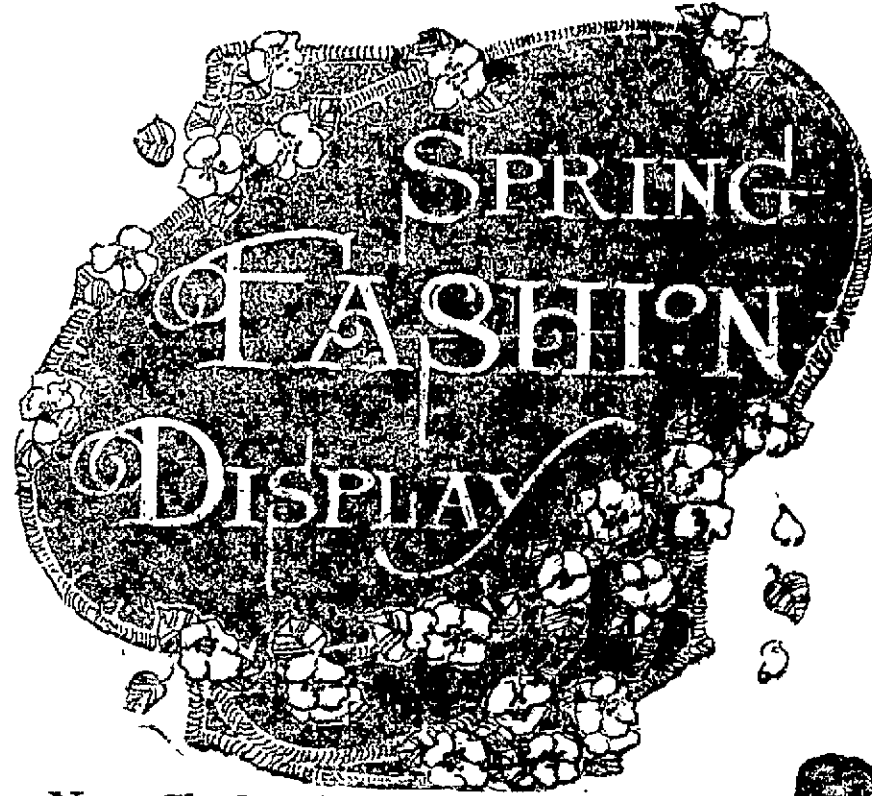

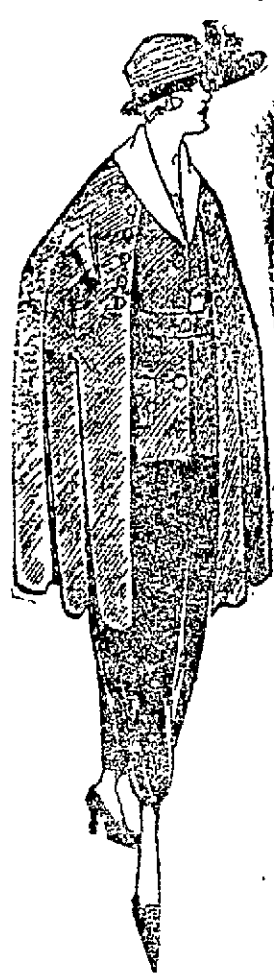

A Princeton man who is fond of horses and dogs owns a finely bred hunting dog and he missed it for several days. He made inquiries all around, but no one had seen anything of the animal, and after a week the owner gave it up as lost. One of the farm hands was rambling through a chopped off wood lot a few days later and came upon the dog caught in a steel trap set for a skunk. Both forepaws were held in the jaws of the trap and the dog could not escape.

But in spite of its terrible predicament it was not emaciated, and although in pain had not gnawed its forepaws as many animals will do when they are in the torture of a steel trap. Strangest of all, scattered all around were bones and scraps of meat. Several hen bones and beef bones, with shreds of meat still clinging, were under the captive's nose, and it was chewing a bone when the farmer discovered its plight.

The trapped dog was carried home in the arms of the man who found it, and then, a little later, the owner went to the trap to see who or what brought those bones and scraps of dog food to the suffering captive. While he stood silently regarding the little heap of bones and scraps, another dog from his own kennels came through the brush with its jaws filled with chicken bones, meat trimmings and other gleanings from the kitchen garbage pail. The dog dropped its load close to the trap and sniffed around as if it were worried.

Calling the dog after him, the owner went back to where the injured dog was licking its wounds. When the other dog saw the rescued animal it barked, capered around, wagged its tail almost off, and then lent its own moist tongue to the healing process on its friend's sorely bruised paws.

FORCED TO OBSERVE SABBATH

Church Attendance, Until Compensatory in Great Britain.

Numerous laws in this country, Canada and Great Britain forbid various acts of work and play on Sunday, but not since the lapse of the "three laws" of civil days have Americans been forced by legislation to go to church on the Sabbath, an exchange sign. In England, however, it was not until the middle of the last century, during the reign of Queen Victoria, that all penalties for nonattendance at religious services were abolished. Some unusual incidents attended the enforcement of the regulations, particularly upon the Hottentots.

They were not taken of from the provisions of the law until 1873 and multitudes of them were prosecuted for in doing upon a certain day. It is recorded, a Jew of the locality fell in to a sermon on a Sabbath. Although almost overcome he could not permit himself to be drawn out, because if he did so would be to violate the sanctity of the holy day. On the following morning he was quite ready to be returned from his previous position, but the authorities, out of respect for the Christian Sabbath, would not permit the unfortunate man to be released until after sunrise on Monday, when he was found to be dead.

crime was refused to attend divine service. One of them was a young man who had been convicted at the institution of his own mother, who appeared against him. In 1817 Sir Montague Burgoine was held into court to explain why he had neglected his religious duties. His Sunday observance in England began during the reign of Edward, in the fourth century, when the Sabbath day was ordained to be kept holy from three o'clock on Saturday afternoon until sunrise on Monday. The most important sin was the extreme penalty for continued violation of the law. About three centuries ago a parliament passed a law which set a fine of one shilling for nonattendance at church on Sunday, unless some good excuse was forthcoming. This act was repealed in effect until comparatively recent times, and still of nonattendance to this day resulted in a prison sentence.

Fine to Replace Books.
Hottentots were taken the place of teachers in schools and colleges, according to The Times. In an interview recently, "The only text-books needed will be for the teachers' own use," declared the speaker of the motion picture camera. "A great film library of all normal and individual subjects should be built up in Washington. Then these films could be loaned on the rental system to all schools in the United States, even to the most remote rural schoolhouses, and the teacher could be equipped it would pay its own way." As setting that "anything which can be taught to the ear can be taught better to the eye." Mr. Edison continued: "The moving object on the screen, the closest possible approximation to reality, is almost the same as bringing that object itself before the child or taking the child to that object. Film teaching will be done without any books whatsoever. The only textbooks needed will be for the teacher's own use. The films will serve as guideposts to these teacher instruction books, not the books as guides to the films." By making "every class room and every assembly hall a movie show, 100 per cent attendance" will be assured, Mr. Edison says. "Why, you won't be able to keep boys and girls away from school then."

Muskrat Lore.
The feed of the muskrat consists of grasses, apples, bark of trees, water plants, carrots, turnips, cabbage and corn, and straw.
Although millions of these brown-robed rats are trapped each year for their fur, the number does not seem to decrease. When the fur is made into clothing it is called muskrat mink or fisher seal.
One of the ways of trapping the muskrat is to set a trap three or four inches below the surface of water in a place where he has been in the habit of leaving the water. In this way he will step into the trap as he undertakes to leave the water. Still another way is to place the trap just below the entrance into his home. Some trappers use apples or turnips as bait. The home quarters is usually quite a large cavity and contains much grass and sticks. During the first two or three weeks of the life of the young the mother muskrat does not leave the home but depends upon the male to furnish the feed supply.

Restoring Devastated France.
The French government has already made arrangements for bringing back into cultivation the desolated and war-torn areas from which the enemy has been driven. The dense population of France makes prompt agricultural restoration necessary to relieve the food situation. Preference will be given to farmers who originally lived in the invaded regions.

A Cinch.
"That's a peach he's with," said a sister to the Charles, "but I guess they're married."
"What makes you think so?"
"I just heard him asking her if she was ever going to learn to put on her own shoes."—Boston Transcript.

Violin "Camouflage."
The word "fieri" is of Latin origin, and means made, or manufactured. It was in general use by the Cremona violin makers, and has been copied by modern makers chiefly for deception. The modern imitators of old violins retained the old form of affixing the date,

EVERY'S WORM CROP

Found Convention With Over 300 Delegates On His Sidewalk.

This morning when Samuel B. Every of No. 39 West Chester street went out to clean the snow off his sidewalk he was surprised at the vast number of angle worms that had assembled in front of his house. It must have been the annual session of the Angle Worms' Association and there were from 300 to 400 delegates in attendance. They averaged in length anywhere from one to six inches.

In fact all over town angle worms were found on the sidewalks and on the streets. Those who profess to know claim that it was due to the fact that there had been but little frost in the ground this past winter and that the warm rain of Thursday brought them to the surface. They were a welcome sight to the robins and sparrows about town and the birds enjoyed a number of good meals without having the trouble to hunt a restaurant. The worms were served both alive and on ice and snow.

ROSENDALE.

FRANCE'S CLAIMS CREATE CRISIS

In Big Four Negotiations—Ceding of Saar Basin and Huge Money Payment Opposed By Wilson, Lloyd George and Orlando.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Paris, March 28.—The real crisis of the big four negotiations was reached today with the consideration of France's territorial and financial demands from Germany.

Premier Clemenceau is pressing four points:

- 1—Restitution of Alsace-Lorraine.
- 2—The ceding to France of the entire Saar basin whose mineral wealth and natural resources, it is claimed, would offset the destruction of mineral resources in northern France.
- 3—Complete military neutralization of the left bank of the Rhine so that "not a single German soldier will be seen there again."
- 4—A money payment in excess of $38,000,000,000.

Clemenceau insists. President Wilson, Premier Lloyd George and Premier Orlando are opposing the second and fourth of these demands. The character of these demands are so strong that it is feared, if Germany refuses to sign the treaty, the other Central Powers will follow her example, bringing about a situation of added seriousness.

It is understood that Premier Clemenceau has remained obdurate so far.

There are increasing threats from Germany that the demands will not be met and this is another situation causing apprehension.

It is admitted that, in the event of a refusal of the only resource will be the complete occupation of Germany, thus increasing the already abnormal costs.

Realizing this, the president is bringing all of his influence to bear to secure a great modification of France's claims. While he has been unsuccessful so far, nevertheless he is still hopeful.

KYSERKE.

Kyserke, March 27.—Miss Helen Harp spent Monday with her cousin, Mrs. Cyrus Depuy in this place. Miss Harp is now at Kingston, where she has taken a position at the Sahler sanitarium.

Grover Smith has rented the farm cottage of Mrs. E. D. Kortright and is moving there this week.

Mrs. Bessie Ogilvie of Staten Island called on Mrs. J. L. Depuy and Mrs. J. L. Westbrook on Tuesday. Mrs. Cyrus Depuy is spending a few days at Accord, visiting friends and relatives.

Farmers are preparing for their spring work as the past few days have dried up the ground nicely.

Wallace D. Oakley, eldest son of Mr. J. Oakley, surprised the family by arriving at his home here on Tuesday night. Wallis very proudly displays three emblems on his sleeve: His honorable discharge emblem from the service; the "Acorn" for the artillery division; and his gold stripe for being in the service over six months. Although speaking highly of the way he was treated by Uncle Sam, he much prefers being at home.

L. J. Haines and Cyrus Depuy of this place and M. Palmer attended the F. & A. M. Lodge at Kingston on Tuesday night.

OUR 27TH MEN MAY ALL BE IN PARADE

Telephone Message To Mayor From New York Indicates Negotiations With Division Headquarters For Early Release of Uster Men May Be Successful.

When it was found that it would not be possible to change the date of the welcoming celebration in this city which is scheduled for Tuesday next, Mayor Cahill, chairman of the committee, not in touch with the commanding officer at Camp Upton and also with Joseph Drake, chairman of the New York city committee, in an effort to have the Uster county members of the 27th Division discharged before April 1st or given a furlough. The mayor received a telephonic message from Mr. Drake and Captain Fred Lockwood of this city, who is now in New York, early this afternoon. They stated that if the boys were given a furlough they might have to be transferred to the Camp Upton when they returned, which would delay their release. They had been in touch with the headquarters of the 27th Division and from such consideration their request had been given, they were of the opinion that it might be possible to obtain the release of our boys on Monday. They are taking it up with the personnel officer at Camp Upton and if they do not receive a favorable answer this afternoon they will go to Camp Upton Saturday morning to take it up personally. Some of the other boys from Uster county who are in other camps and divisions will have a furlough for the celebration.

Why Maine Girl Is Proud.
Although but eleven years of age, Christine Reed of Sanford is one of the "war-honor girls" of Maine. This title was bestowed on her by state school officials. She is the youngest stage driver in New England and her daily duty is to see that a score of pupils living in rural districts are transported to their schools.

When the war called the young men of Sanford to service there wasn't anyone left to drive the school children's stage coach. For awhile it looked as though the children wouldn't be able to get any schooling this term.

Then Christine went to her father and said she would drive the stage. Her father consented and the child began. All through the winter she made the trips and none of the children she transported was late at any session. To accomplish this Christine has had to get out of bed each morning at 5:30 o'clock.

Why Marines Wear Green.
Folks from coast to coast are still wondering why the time-honored blue uniforms worn by the United States marines were superseded by the "forest greens" now in use.

"Practical military reasons" was the brief answer given by marine officials. But a history shark now comes forth with a better cause, he says, than mere military necessity for the change in colors.

He claims that green is the historic hue for the marine corps, and to prove it he has dug up an order of the "marine committee," dated September 3, 1775, prescribing a uniform of green coat, faced with white, white waistcoat and breeches edged with green, and black "gaiters."

How Temperature Changes.

Up to a height of six or seven miles the temperature falls one degree Fahrenheit for every 300 feet above sea level. Above the seven-mile point the temperature remains fairly level—at least up to 18 miles.

Meteorologists call this "the inversion layer." Needless to say, the air up there is pretty thin.

Even on the top of Mount Blanc it is impossible to make a good cupful of coffee, because, owing to the greatly reduced pressure of the atmosphere, water boils when it is only lukewarm!

Antiquity of the Jews.

Armenian and Georgian historians of southern Russia record that the Jew had settled among them in remote antiquity. They have evidence to prove that the children of Israel had lived round the Black and Caspian seas prior to the destruction of the first temple—587 B. C.—trading in fables and horses with Acon, Tyre, Sidon and other Phoenician cities.

Ever Notice It?
Sold the near-cynic: "Did you ever notice that the fellow who is chivalrous enough to remove his hat in an elevator where there are ladies has no compunction about filling the air with a cloud of tobacco smoke?"

Liveliest Group of Invalids in Europe Make Wounded Forget Their Troubles

THE liveliest bunch of convalescents ever in captivity—singers, story tellers, musicians and all-around comedians—and still in captivity, though they have a roving commission at present, have entered the service of the Y. M. C. A. in France. As convalescents, they are flat failures, but as entertainers they are the hit of the "Y" theatrical season overseas, reports from France say.

A few weeks ago they were just patients in a big base hospital.

They were all in the same ward, and to keep up their spirits, they got to singing and "putting on stunts." This not only cheered them up, but won all sorts of applause from their sick and wounded comrades.

"Don't tell me you're an amateur," as he looked approvingly and, appraisingly at another who had just finished telling a dialect story. "No," confessed the other, "I'm 'Sunshine Georgie' Hall, and I've been doing juvenile movie comedy the last three years—before I joined the army. But I've seen you on the stage, too. Where was it?"

"Well, I've done my bit at the New York theatres," admitted the doughty who had spoken first.

"In civil life I'm Val Marconi, of Marconi Brothers' Wireless Orchestra. We were with Fred Stone, too. And that ornery buck private over there happens to be Charlie Spel-dell, who wrote 'One in a Million Like You' and a lot of other song hits. We ought to get up a show."

They did, and the result is "The Convalescent Entertainers," ten enlisted men who have been in "big time" vaudeville and are just as successful overseas as they ever were here. The company has begun a tour of the hospitals under the management of the Y. M. C. A., to which organization the army has assigned them for four months on detached service.

Of all the many groups of hospital entertainers employed by the Y. M. C. A., none is more popular than the Convalescent Entertainers, "the boys who have wound stripes on their bodies as well as on their coats." The other members of the company are "Smiling Bert" Bowman, Johnny Byam, Victor Orr, Jack Belco, Charles Bauer, Jack Wayman and Lawrence Hager. The accompanying picture shows Val Marconi entertaining in a hospital tent.

Let Action Follow Thought.

A philosopher once said that there is no value to any thought, no matter how fine or noble, unless it is transformed into action. If you feel uplifted by beautiful music, do something that will tally with your mood, and then the music has been worth while. If you read something that is inspiring, at once do something, no matter how small, that is a little different and a little superior to your routine. The theory applies with equal truth to the reading of books as more than a pastime.—Chicago American.

Substitutes for Hickory.

Specifications for handles for trenching tools were prepared during the war by the forest products laboratory at Madison, allowing seven substitute species in place of hickory and also certain minor defects, thereby making possible greatly increased production for this class of material and at the same time giving satisfactory handles.—University Bulletin.

How Would You Rate Your Wife?

In the Woman's Home Companion occurs this account of a plan that raised much discussion and more money in the town where it was tried: "Two months in advance a date was set for Wage day in our Sunday school class. At that time every one was asked to give one day's wage, inclosed in a sealed envelope, without a name."

"The men had no trouble reckoning the amounts they should give, but their wives rated themselves in various ways. Some felt their work worth as much as their husband's, and gave the price of the average wedding fee. One large woman whose husband said she was worth her weight in gold computed it at one gold dollar per pound and divided it by the number of times he said it in two months."

How to Destroy Poison Ivy.

The cheapest and most effective method of eliminating poison ivy, according to experts of the United States department of agriculture, is the simple one of rooting up the plants and destroying them. If the poison ivy is in large fields it may be necessary to plow and cultivate the land. Ivy on large trees, stone walls and buildings can be killed by arsenate of soda, at the rate of two pounds to ten gallons of water. Two or three applications are sufficient.

Empires That Have Fallen.

Six empires have disappeared within the memory of living men, remarks a writer in the Brooklyn Eagle. Nearly 800,000,000 people, close to one-half the world's population, have been released from the shackles of imperialism since 1871. History has no parallel for such changes. In the retrospect of history 50 years are but a flash in the march of the ages and yet since 1871 the doctrine of republicanism has been embraced by half the world. Not all the preceding 2,000 years of mankind's march toward liberty records such progress.

Six empires have laid down crowns and scepter since Theodore Roosevelt became the exponent of the strenuous life. Three have died, one was murdered, the other two are in exile, while of the three still living, only one, the boy emperor of China, is still enjoying the luxuries that sweeten life for those in high places. It was Napoleon III, who led this debacle of imperialism.

Dom Pedro of Brazil was next and the last of the Manchurian dynasty followed. The crash of the three remaining European empires, Russia, Austria-Hungary and Germany, resulted from the war for democracy. When it comes to mere kings, memory cannot recall them all, for they have tumbled everywhere from Hawaii to Portugal, from Saxony to Bulgaria.
